

Lake Sonoma Horse Camp

Potty House

It has taken a long time, but we have finally have all the walls up for the new Potty House at the Horse Camp. This project started with Ranger Joel and his gang installing the tank in December of 06.

We poured a slab over the tank in the summer of 07 and started stacking walls this last spring when we received a funding grant from Bay Area Barns and Trails.

Over several Saturday Work Parties this summer, the crew made some real head way.

We stacked the walls half way {4ft} and then filled with concrete.

It took 2 more work days to finish the full 8 ft. high.

This last Saturday 12/6 we put the final blocks in place.

Next step will be to fill the last 4 ft of wall with concrete. We plan on doing that on January 10, 2009. Alan is building the trusses, so it won't be long before the roof goes up.

Thanks to a great crew!!
