“Saturday found the bleachers completely full for the Marine demo.”

The 2009 Rendezvous in Turlock was honored to have, for the first time ever, three of our country's finest men, from United States Marine Corp, Mountain Warfare Center out of Pickle Valley, CA.

Tony Parkhurst (retired USMC – packing leader), Sgt. Chad Giles and Sgt. John Freeseha (a Turlock native) arrived with their big, huge mules and pack equipment.

I located the men after they had unpacked and situated their stock, with the Lake-Mendo unit. Dennis Jensen's son, Capt. Sven Jensen (a BCHC member) had attended this specialized training center and had told me about their amazing program. Jensen extended a warm welcome (and quite possibly a cold beer) to the men. I found the men to be extremely polite, warm and yes, funny! An instant friendship was made then and there.

Everyone did their utmost to make sure the Marines had everything they needed. A huge thank you goes out to the North Bay Unit for sponsoring the Marines, the Rendezvous Committee, Mid Valley Unit, and JB Presents for arranging lunch from one of the food vendors. THANK YOU very much!!

The Friday night awards dinner was full of good food and fun. Our event seemed to be well attended and for the most part, got the 2009 Rendezvous off to a great start. The Marines joined us at the table with the Lake-Mendo and North Bay unit. We got acquainted very quickly as these men were so well adept at their social skills!! Continued on page 3

President's Memo - April 2009

Hi Folks!

Your unit members have been quite active this past month!

A number of us attended the Equus Awards Dinner and witnessed, Dan Horn graciously accept recognition and thanks “on behalf of all of us,” for the work projects he has been responsible for organizing, that benefit all user groups.

Be sure to give him a “pat on the back” next time you see him (but not too hard)!

Projects Update:

Hood Mountain: Dan, James Kelley, Rafael Negrete and “yours truly” set the concrete foundation for the manure bunker located in the parking lot. Rafael taught me how to put a nice smooth finish on the concrete... I swear it's just like icing a cake!

Willow Creek: I know a number of you frequently ride Willow Creek. LandPaths would like to know that the “equestrian community” has an interest in lending a hand in its upkeep. (They aren't aware of what we do, because we aren't signing up to work on their work parties.) So, when any of you ride and work the trails, please email the folks at LandPaths to let them know how many hours you've spent stewarding the land. LandPaths has done a lot, for and with the hiking community, but they need to know that we are also a great resource to link up with. Please email Craig Anderson at: craig@landpaths.org with your hours.

Spring Ride Update: MAY 15TH – 17TH! NOW IS THE TIME TO START GATHERING ITEMS FOR THE RAFFLE OR AUCTION. Please call friends or business contacts with items or services to donate.

Then, all you have to do is CONTACT PHIL MONETTE. He will arrange to pick up the items and give the donor a receipt! Do you provide a service of some kind that you would be willing to donate? Only one more meeting before our event!

Please come join us April 21st 7 pm-SCDR clubhouse.

Nadine Lavell (nlavell@sonic.net),
TamiaLagrove (blondemaverick@comcast.net)

are in charge of coordinating volunteers who are willing to give an hour or two during the event. Please contact one of them so that they can start planning.

Finally, I had a rather rude awakening in regards to my homeowners insurance.

How many of you absolutely know for sure, that you have equine personal liability coverage thru your homeowner's policy?

Guess again...most policies do not cover equines, or if they did in the past, they may not now. Nor will most Personal Liability Umbrella policies either.

Think about it...you and your friends are enjoying a wonderful ride on a “shared” trail or beach with hikers, baby buggies, bikes, backpacks, and your horse kicks someone or causes a wreck. Or worse, they get out on a busy road and cause an accident like the horrible event that took place last month. Personally, it made me think twice about assuming I was covered. One quick call to my broker and I found out I was not. There are a number of different types of coverage and if you board your horses, your barn owner may have a policy that could possibly cover your horse for an additional charge. I checked with the agent for BCHC to see if there was group coverage available at a lower rate, and there is not. Some horse registries offer liability insurance, but it may only cover you while you are at a club sponsored event or show.

If your insurance broker cannot supply you with an equine liability rider, try contacting Michele at Jorene Mize Insurance. She may or may not be able to help you. That is the company that provides insurance to BCHC. Her email is Michele@mize-insurance.com or phone 559-877-7631. She will email or fax you an application or questionnaire to complete.

You have to do your own homework in this regard! Be sure to ask for, and read the coverage offered. Understand the conditions of the policy, exclusions, and your duties in the event of a claim.

And by the way, “Happy Trails!” ~ President Denise

Happy Trails!

Saturday found the bleachers completely full for the Marine demo. Crowds surrounded the area and the Marines sporting their fatigues set to begin. Tony Parkhurst led the way by addressing the crowd with information about his unit and their mission. Cold Weather Packing was the topic, however, Tony informed us that the only difference between warm and cold weather packing, was to simply put on more coats! Tony talked to us about how his unit also instructed many other countries in the art of packing. We were told that in Afghanistan the mules are procured by indigenous packers. Examples of various situations involving pack animals were discussed, with sensitive specifics excluded. Chad and John demonstrated their techniques of packing stock and it was drilled into our heads, half hitch is the simple way to go! There was an extensive question and answer session following the demo and the crowd was very actively engaged in questions for the Marines. I asked if we could raise the funds again for next year, would the Marines consider attending our event; the answer was a YES and the crowd went wild!

A huge sense of patriotism was evident, especially when our first-time-ever parade was held at noon. Right on the heels of the Marines demo, the Gustine High School Band, in full marching uniforms led the way, along with a Special Needs Riding group, the Mountain Men Reenactors (this was a demo that was new to our event also, and very well received, thank you Mountain Men), Lenore Ryan and her goat packer, a grand showing of Units were also on hand and much more. If you missed the parade, it was quite impressive. Jane Hammond sang the National Anthem and Larry Shuman did the invocation. I don't know about anyone else, but I hope this Parade and Opening Ceremony will become a trademark for our event and a tradition of our own!

The Saturday night dinner and fun band found the Marines dancing with young and old alike. Their interest in Backcountry Horsemen continued as they talked to anyone and everyone about our club and their particular mission. I could not have envisioned a better cast of characters to have attended our event. Should the Marines return, we will include some Gentle Use dialog and strive to attain GU Points for their demo!

All of the men told me that they felt extremely welcomed by our group and thought we were one of the nicest organizations they had met. Here is what Tony Parkhurst emailed me:

“A huge thank you goes out to the North Bay Unit for sponsoring the Marines”

“Lisa, on behalf of John, Chad and me - thank you for making us at home for the duration of our stay and on behalf of the Marine Corps. Thank you for the time we had to present what we do in support of our service man and woman in harms way. If there is anything that we can help you with please e-mail me and I will pass it up the chain.”

*Thanks
Tony*

The feedback I got from these fine Marines was wonderful. Chad told me that even if they weren't invited back next year, he was going to attend. All of them loved BCHC and were amazed at the various work projects and Public Lands issues we are so impassioned with. These men came on their own dime, they took personal days off, unpaid, spent their own gas money and more. Just like all of our speakers, they invested in our common goals. As most of you already know, all of our speakers attend without stipend, however, since the military is a group near and dear to my heart and family history, this is the first time anyone has sponsored a speaker. The North Bay unit paid for their admission, camping, stalls and food. Additionally, BCHC members brought hay for their stock.

It is my humble opinion that in the future, if we wish to secure some new and diverse speakers, we should attempt to gain sponsorship from various arenas. This is one way we can be “better by design”, bring new and exciting speakers, and involve the public by their investment and more.

One of the unique demos was the Mountain Men Reenactors, who provided demos the entire time of this event. If you missed their demo, you really missed out. Terry Haider, his wife and mother along with Art Johnson provided essential history lessons and tomahawk tossing. Terry has volunteered to spearhead the History of Packing for BCHC. I welcome anyone who has information on BCHC club members who have been instrumental in packing in their area, to contact me and/or Terry to begin documenting and archiving our history. In order to pass along our heritage, it is crucial that we begin this step to pass along to generations to come!

I personally want to thank each and every person on the Education Committee, Rendezvous Committee, the Mid Valley Unit, JB Presents, each and every GU Speaker and clinic trainers, as well as everyone who participated in the success of this year's Rendezvous. I know I have forgotten many but please forgive me; you are all generous in your time, money and energy.

I am having so much fun getting to know everyone and what a class act BCHC is! Thanks from the bottom of my heart. What I lack in equine knowledge, I hope to make up for with my devotion to BCHC and my organizational skills.

In today's economy and hard times, it was a breath of fresh air to forget our differences for a weekend, and celebrate our similarities. I for one, left exhausted, tired in a good kind of way, much like a packing trip. We hit some bumps and overcame the obstacles and the end result, was a job well done!!

If you have any pictures from the Rendezvous, please email them to me, as I'm adding a Photo Album to our state website. I know that Larry Shuman would also like some photos for his ongoing slide show presentation as well as Dan Horn for his Wilderness Rider slide show (a Wilderness Rider page will be added to our website too, stay tuned☺).

I am available by email, phone or snail mail, so please don't hesitate to contact me for feedback, questions, and suggestions. We are all here to make this club the most effective organization, this is YOUR club. It takes a village.....

AND, on a personal exciting note for me, I was just accepted into the 2009 Wilderness Rider Training Program to be held May 9-15th in Henry Coe State Park (by Morgan Hill, very close to my hometown of Carmel).

I'm much honored to have been chosen as I'm a fairly novice rider, first time equine owner and have no packing experience. I will make sure to take great notes of my experience, so stay tuned for some upcoming articles about my amazing journey!

My goal is to gain as much knowledge as possible to enable me to best represent the Backcountry Horsemen of California and to begin developing relationships with agencies in Monterey County. Yes, due to the economy, I was forced to move from Lake County back to my hometown but was lucky enough to be given a caretaker position on a mini ranch, half way between Monterey and Salinas.

I have the best of worlds, city life but living in Steinbeck Country!! If anyone is ever in my neck of the woods, we have Marina State Beach, Garland Regional Park, Ventana Wilderness, Los Padres Wilderness, and acres and acres of BLM land off the former Ft. Ord. All of these venues are horse friendly and I can't wait to start riding in my backyard again. I just bought a vintage horse trailer and ready to hit the trails so just let me know if you are heading my way, Salinas Rodeo is in July.....

Signing off – yours truly

Vice President's Report

I've just returned from the 2009 BCHC Rendezvous in Turlock, CA. a gathering of all the Backcountry Horsemen units in California. This meeting gives all the units throughout the state a chance to interact and share their concerns, experiences and successes with the other units, as well as educates members about "Gentle Use- Leave No Trace", back country riding and packing, and public lands issues.

On Thursday, Kevin Garden, the attorney for Public lands use for BCHA (national) gave a 7 hour course on navigating the Federal intra agency relationships and how to work with these agencies on equestrian issues and public lands use. A lot of issues are facing the equestrian community, trail use reclassification, wilderness areas use, even parking for horse trailers on Federal lands. Many of these national issues had their start here in California from concerns of local units.

On Friday, the first full day of Rendezvous, Dan Clifford, an attorney for BCHC (state), Gave a follow up meeting to discuss local public lands issues and put previous day's meeting in perspective for state and local issues. Also that day there were classes offered on horse training and pack-stock training.

On Saturday, things got into full swing, there were lots of classes, trailer safety given by the CHP, officer training for unit board members, our own Dan Horn gave a class on gentle use concepts assisted by Donna Meier, and both are Wilderness riders and master educators in gentle use.

Also Saturday morning, it was my honor and pleasure to introduce the Marine Corps Mountain Warfare Training Center's demonstration of military stock packing skills and techniques, sponsored by the North Bay Unit. This was perhaps the best-attended event of Rendezvous, showing how our military uses pack stock in Afghanistan and other areas to support our troops, with a question and answer session at the end. Great Job Guys!

I encourage all our membership to try to attend next years Rendezvous, it will be time well spent.

Respectfully submitted,

PHIL MONETTE, V.P. North Bay Unit

Santa Rosa Junior College Student Training

By Dan Horn

On Friday April 10th, Ranger Joel, Donna Meier and I took a group of Students from the J.C. lead by their instructor Regional Park Ranger Bill Trunick out to the South Trail Head at Lake Sonoma to work on the Water Trough and Spring. We wanted to show them the advantages of using Pack Stock when doing trail work.

We started with a trail head orientation giving the basics of pack stock, pack saddles and pack gear.

For some of these young folks it was the first time they had ever seen pack stock except in movies.

After finishing up loading the stock, we took off to the spring location about a 1 ½ miles in. Donna and I took the lead with the students following on foot.

Once at the site, first order of business was to disassemble the old spring box. Our plan was to move it up the hill to where the water came out of the mountain. So Ranger Bill got the bunch started taking down the fence that we have to put around springs to keep the Wild Pigs out.

Then they dug up the old spring box, while we laid out where the new ditch would go up the hill. Ranger Mike Atchison had dragged in the new pipe behind the ATV a few days before.

Part of the crew began digging out the new spring location.

Ranger Bill gave us a demonstration of the back-breaking way grandpa use to do it, but there were no complaints from the crew about using the tillers.

We fired up the two Mantis Tillers we packed in to show them the advantages of modern equipment.

While the crew was cutting ditch and setting the spring box, Donna and I went back to the trail head to get six 80 lb. bags of pea gravel to surround the spring box as a filter. We also had to call down to the Lake Office to scrounge some more pipe, seems my guess from memory was about 50 ft short.

Our timing was perfect to return, the gang was ready for the Pea Gravel. I had to laugh as they unloaded the bags off the pack stock, one of the boys said he was sure glad he did not have to carry them in from the trail head. Ranger Joel added in the extra pipe we had Ranger Cindy Rowe run up to the trail head and the water started to flow.

Thanks to Ranger Bill and the J.C. Students for a job well done.

This water trough has been dry for over a year.

I would like to give Shear Builders Inc. of Windsor a Special Thanks for donating the Pea Gravel.
